Introduction

The Iranian Christian Revival is a movement of spiritual renewal and growth among Iranian Christians that began in the early 2000s and continues to this day. It is characterized by a renewed commitment to the Christian faith, a focus on evangelism and discipleship, and a desire to reach out to the Iranian people with the Gospel.

Background

The Iranian Christian Revival began in the early 2000s, when a group of Iranian Christians began to meet together to pray and study the Bible. This group, known as the Iranian Christian Fellowship, was led by Pastor Reza Safa, who had been a pastor in Iran before coming to the United States. The group began to grow, and soon other Iranian Christians began to join them.

The revival was fueled by a renewed commitment to the Christian faith, a focus on evangelism and discipleship, and a desire to reach out to the Iranian people with the Gospel. The revival was also marked by a renewed emphasis on the importance of prayer and the power of the Holy Spirit. As the revival spread, more and more Iranian Christians began to come to faith in Jesus Christ.

The revival has been a source of hope and encouragement for many Iranian Christians, who have faced persecution and discrimination in their home country. The revival has also been a source of inspiration for many non-Iranian Christians, who have been inspired by the courage and faith of the Iranian Christians.

Scripture

The Iranian Christian Revival has been fueled by a renewed commitment to the Bible and the teachings of Jesus Christ. The Bible is the foundation of the revival, and the teachings of Jesus are the source of its power.

The Bible is clear that God desires all people to come to faith in Jesus Christ. In John 3:16, Jesus says, "For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life." This verse is a reminder that God desires all people to come to faith in Jesus Christ, and that He is willing to do whatever it takes to bring them to Him.

The Bible also teaches that God desires all people to be discipled and to grow in their faith. In Matthew 28:19-20, Jesus says, "Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you." This verse is a reminder that God desires all people to be discipled and to grow in their faith.

The Bible also teaches that God desires all people to be witnesses for Him. In Acts 1:8, Jesus says, "But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you; and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth." This verse is a reminder that God desires all people to be witnesses for Him, and to share the Good News of Jesus Christ with the world.

The Iranian Christian Revival has been fueled by a renewed commitment to the Bible and the teachings of Jesus Christ. The Bible is the foundation of the revival, and the teachings of Jesus are the source of its power.
