Debate over the Appropriate Age to Start Sex Education

The debate over the appropriate age to start sex education has been ongoing for many years. While some argue that it should be taught as early as elementary school, others believe that it should be delayed until high school. As a Christian, it is important to consider the biblical perspective on this issue.

The Bible is clear that sex is a gift from God and should be reserved for marriage. In 1 Corinthians 7:2, it states, “But since sexual immorality is occurring, each man should have sexual relations with his own wife, and each woman with her own husband.” This verse makes it clear that sex is meant to be enjoyed within the confines of marriage.

In addition, the Bible also speaks to the importance of teaching children about sex. In Proverbs 22:6, it states, “Train up a child in the way he should go; even when he is old he will not depart from it.” This verse emphasizes the importance of teaching children about sex and the importance of instilling biblical values in them from a young age.

Given these biblical principles, it is important to consider the appropriate age to start sex education. While some argue that it should be taught as early as elementary school, others believe that it should be delayed until high school.

Proponents of teaching sex education in elementary school argue that it is important to teach children about sex at an early age in order to prevent them from engaging in risky behaviors. They also argue that it is important to teach children about the importance of abstinence and the consequences of engaging in premarital sex.

On the other hand, those who believe that sex education should be delayed until high school argue that it is important to wait until children are mature enough to understand the implications of engaging in sexual activity. They also argue that it is important to wait until children are old enough to make informed decisions about their sexual behavior.

Salvation Prayers : Dear Lord Jesus, I come to you today acknowledging my need for salvation. I confess that I have sinned and fallen short of your glory. But I believe that you died for my sins and rose again. I ask that you come into my heart and be my Lord. I commit to following you and living for you every day. Thank you for your love and for the gift of eternal life. In your name I pray, Amen. Amen If you prayed the above prayers kindly click here to get more information
