The gifts of the Holy Spirit are a source of great blessing and power in the life of a Christian. However, there are some who object to these gifts, particularly the cessationist view which holds that the gifts of the Holy Spirit ceased with the death of the apostles. In this blog post, we will discuss the common objections to the gifts of the Holy Spirit and how they can be addressed.

The first objection to the gifts of the Holy Spirit is that they are no longer necessary. This objection is based on the belief that the gifts of the Holy Spirit were only necessary during the time of the apostles and are no longer needed today. However, this is not supported by Scripture. In 1 Corinthians 12:7-11, Paul writes: “Now to each one the manifestation of the Spirit is given for the common good. To one there is given through the Spirit a message of wisdom, to another a message of knowledge by means of the same Spirit, to another faith by the same Spirit, to another gifts of healing by that one Spirit, to another miraculous powers, to another prophecy, to another distinguishing between spirits, to another speaking in different kinds of tongues, and to still another the interpretation of tongues. All these are the work of one and the same Spirit, and he distributes them to each one, just as he determines.”

Rededication Prayers : Dear Lord Jesus, I come to you today with a heart of repentance. I confess that I have strayed from your path and have not been living according to your will. But I am here to rededicate myself to you and to make a commitment to follow you with all my heart. I ask for your forgiveness and for the strength and guidance to walk in your ways. I thank you for your love, grace, and mercy. I give you my all, my heart, my mind, my soul, and my strength, I trust in you and I pray this in Jesus' name, Amen. Amen

This passage clearly states that the gifts of the Holy Spirit are still active and are given to each person for the common good. Furthermore, in 1 Corinthians 14:1, Paul writes: "Follow the way of love and eagerly desire spiritual gifts, especially the gift of prophecy." This passage shows that the gifts of the Holy Spirit are still active and should be sought after.

The second objection to the gifts of the Holy Spirit is that they are not necessary for salvation. This objection is based on the belief that the gifts of the Holy Spirit are not necessary for salvation and that salvation can be achieved without them. However, this is not supported by Scripture. In 1 Corinthians 12:3, Paul writes: "Therefore I want you to understand that no one speaking by the Spirit of God ever says 'Jesus is accursed!' and no one can say 'Jesus is Lord' except by the Holy Spirit." This passage clearly states that the Holy Spirit is necessary for salvation and that no one can say "Jesus is Lord" without the Holy Spirit.

The third objection to the gifts of the Holy Spirit is that they are not for everyone. This objection is based on the belief that the gifts of the Holy Spirit are only for certain people and not for everyone. However, this is not supported by Scripture. In 1 Corinthians 12:7, Paul writes: “Now to each one the manifestation of the Spirit is given for the common good.” This passage clearly states that the gifts of the Holy Spirit are given to everyone for the common good.

The fourth objection to the gifts of the Holy Spirit is that they are not necessary for Christian living. This objection is based on the belief that the gifts of the Holy Spirit are not necessary for Christian living and that Christian living can be achieved without them. However, this is not supported by Scripture. In 1 Corinthians 12:4-6, Paul writes: “There are different kinds of gifts, but the same Spirit distributes them. There are different kinds of service, but the same Lord. There are different kinds of working, but in all of them and in everyone it is the same God at work. Now to each one the manifestation of the Spirit is given for the common good.” This passage clearly states that the gifts of the Holy Spirit are necessary for Christian living and that they are given to everyone for the common good.
