Jehovah Tsidkenu is a Hebrew name for God that means “The Lord Our Righteousness”. It is a title of God that is found in the Old Testament of the Bible and is used to describe how God provides righteousness to His people. In Christianity, this name is fulfilled in Jesus Christ, who is seen as the ultimate source of righteousness and salvation.

The Bible speaks of Jehovah Tsidkenu in several places, including Jeremiah 23:6, which says, “In his days Judah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely: and this is his name whereby he shall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS.” This verse speaks of a time when God will provide righteousness to His people, and it is seen as a prophecy of Jesus Christ.

In the New Testament, Jesus is seen as the fulfillment of this prophecy. He is seen as the one who brings righteousness to the world and who provides salvation to all who believe in Him. In Romans 3:21-22, Paul writes, “But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets; Even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference.” This verse speaks of how Jesus is the source of righteousness and how all who believe in Him can be saved.

The name Jehovah Tsidkenu is also seen in the New Testament in the book of Revelation. In Revelation 19:11, it says, “And I saw heaven opened, and behold a white horse; and he that sat upon him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he doth judge and make war.” This verse speaks of Jesus as the one who will judge the world in righteousness and who will bring salvation to all who believe in Him.
