Humans are emotional creatures. We experience a wide range of emotions, from joy and love to sadness and anger. Our emotions can be powerful and overwhelming, and they can shape our lives in profound ways. As Christians, we believe that our emotions are a gift from God and that they can be used to bring us closer to Him. In this blog post, we will explore the role of emotions in the Christian faith and how we can use them to draw closer to God.

The Bible is full of examples of how emotions can be used to draw closer to God. In the book of Psalms, we see how David used his emotions to express his love for God. In Psalm 63:3, he says, “Because your love is better than life, my lips will glorify you.” Here, David is expressing his love for God through his emotions.

The Bible also teaches us that our emotions can be used to help us grow in our faith. In Romans 12:12, Paul writes, “Be joyful in hope, patient in affliction, faithful in prayer.” Here, Paul is teaching us that our emotions can be used to help us stay focused on God and to remain faithful in our prayers.

Our emotions can also be used to help us understand God’s will for our lives. In Philippians 4:6-7, Paul writes, “Do not be anxious about anything, but in every situation, by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving, present your requests to God.

And the peace of God, which transcends all understanding, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus.” Here, Paul is teaching us that our emotions can be used to help us discern God’s will for our lives.

Finally, our emotions can be used to help us serve others. In Matthew 25:40, Jesus says, “Truly I tell you, whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers and sisters of mine, you did for me.” Here, Jesus is teaching us that our emotions can be used to help us serve others in need.
