Marriage is a sacred union between two people, and it is a legal contract that is recognized by the government. In Christianity, inheritance rights are seen as a legal benefit of marriage. The Bible

In addition, the Bible also states that a married couple should provide for each other in the event of death. This includes providing for the surviving spouse in the form of inheritance (1 Timothy 5:8). This is seen as a way of honoring the deceased spouse and providing for the surviving spouse.

III. How Are Inheritance Rights Determined?

Inheritance rights are typically determined by the laws of the state in which the deceased person lived. In most states, a surviving spouse is entitled to a portion of the deceased spouse’s estate. This portion is typically determined by the size of the estate and the number of surviving children.
