Jesus Proverbs on Parenting and Education

Jesus' teachings on parenting and education are timeless and have been passed down through generations. His words of wisdom are still relevant today and can be used to guide us in our parenting and educational decisions. In this blog post, we will explore some of Jesus' proverbs on parenting and education, as well as discuss how they can be applied in our modern world.

Jesus' proverbs on parenting and education are found throughout the Bible. One of the most well-known is found in Matthew 7:12, which states, "So in everything, do to others what you would have them do to you, for this sums up the Law and the Prophets." This proverb is often referred to as the Golden Rule and is a reminder to treat others as we would like to be treated. This can be applied to parenting and education by teaching our children to be kind and respectful to others, as well as to themselves.

Another proverb found in the Bible is found in Proverbs 22:6, which states, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it." This proverb is a reminder to parents to be intentional in their parenting and to teach their children the values and beliefs that they want them to have. This can be done through teaching them right from wrong, setting boundaries, and providing them with a good education.

Rededication Prayers : Dear Lord Jesus, I come to you today with a heart of repentance. I confess that I have strayed from your path and have not been living according to your will. But I am here to rededicate myself to you and to make a commitment to follow you with all my heart. I ask for your forgiveness and for the strength and guidance to walk in your ways. I thank you for your love, grace, and mercy. I give you my all, my heart, my mind, my soul, and my strength, I trust in you and I pray this in Jesus' name, Amen. Amen

Jesus' proverbs on parenting and education also include the importance of teaching children to be responsible and to work hard. Proverbs 13:4 states, "The sluggard craves and gets nothing, but the desires of the diligent are fully satisfied." This proverb is a reminder to parents to encourage their children to work hard and to be responsible for their actions. This can be done by setting expectations and holding them accountable for their actions.

Finally, Jesus' proverbs on parenting and education also include the importance of teaching children to be humble and to serve others. Matthew 20:28 states, "Even as the Son of Man came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many." This proverb is a reminder to parents to teach their children to be humble and to serve others. This can be done by teaching them to be kind and compassionate, and to put others before themselves.

Salvation Prayers : Dear Lord Jesus, I come to you today acknowledging my need for salvation. I confess that I have sinned and fallen short of your glory. But I believe that you died for my sins and rose again. I ask that you come into my heart and be my Lord. I commit to following you and living for you every day. Thank you for your love and for the gift of eternal life. In your name I pray, Amen. Amen
