The 1970s and 1980s were a time of great revival in South Africa, with many key leaders emerging to lead the nation in a new direction. These leaders were instrumental in bringing about a new era of peace and prosperity, and their legacy continues to this day. In this blog post, we will take a look at some of the key leaders of South African revival during this period, and how their work has impacted the nation.

The first leader to be mentioned is Bishop Desmond Tutu. Bishop Tutu was a prominent figure in the anti-apartheid movement, and his work was instrumental in bringing about the end of the oppressive system. He was a strong advocate for human rights and social justice, and his leadership helped to bring about a new era of peace and reconciliation in South Africa. He famously said, "If you are neutral in situations of injustice, you have chosen the side of the oppressor."

Another key leader of South African revival was Nelson Mandela. Mandela was a leader of the African National Congress, and he was instrumental in bringing about the end of apartheid. He was a strong advocate for human rights and social justice, and his leadership helped to bring about a new era of peace and reconciliation in South Africa. He famously said, "It always seems impossible until it is done."

Salvation Prayers : Dear Lord Jesus, I come to you today acknowledging my need for salvation. I confess that I have sinned and fallen short of your glory. But I believe that you died for my sins and rose again. I ask that you come into my heart and be my Lord. I commit to following you and living for you every day. Thank you for your love and for the gift of eternal life. In your name I pray, Amen. The third leader to be mentioned is Steve Biko. Biko was a prominent figure in the Black Consciousness Movement, and his work was instrumental in bringing about a new era of black pride and self-determination. He was a strong advocate for human rights and social justice, and his leadership helped to bring about a new era of peace and reconciliation in South Africa. He famously said, "The most potent weapon in the hands of the oppressor is the mind of the oppressed."

The fourth leader to be mentioned is Winnie Mandela. Winnie was a leader of the African National Congress Women's League, and her work was instrumental in bringing about a new era of women's rights and empowerment. She was a strong advocate for human rights and social justice, and her leadership helped to bring about a new era of peace and reconciliation in South Africa. She famously said, "It is better to die for an idea that will live, than to live for an idea that will die."

Rededication Prayers : Dear Lord Jesus, I come to you today with a heart of repentance. I confess that I have strayed from your path and have not been living according to your will. But I am here to rededicate myself to you and to make a commitment to follow you with all my heart. I ask for your forgiveness and for the strength and guidance to walk in your ways. I thank you for your love, grace, and mercy. I give you my all, my heart, my mind, my soul, and my strength, I trust in you and I pray this in Jesus' name, Amen.
