Jehovah Mekoddishkem is a Hebrew phrase that is found in the Bible and is used to refer to God. The phrase is derived from the Hebrew words “Jehovah” and “Mekoddishkem”, which mean “the Lord your sanctifier”. The phrase is used to refer to God as the one who sanctifies or sets apart His people for His service.

The phrase is found in the book of Leviticus, where God is speaking to the Israelites and telling them that He is their sanctifier. He is the one who sets them apart from the other nations and makes them holy. He is the one who gives them the laws and commands that they must follow in order to be holy.

God is also referred to as the “Lord your sanctifier” in other parts of the Bible. In the book of Isaiah, God says, “I am the Lord your God, the Holy One of Israel, your Savior. I give Egypt as your ransom, Cush and Seba in exchange for you.” In the book of Jeremiah, God says, “I am the Lord your God, the Holy One of Israel, your Savior. I give Egypt as your ransom, Cush and Seba in exchange for you.”

The phrase “Jehovah Mekoddishkem” is used to refer to God as the one who sanctifies or sets apart His people for His service. He is the one who gives them the laws and commands that they must follow in order to be holy. He is also the one who provides them with redemption and salvation.

The phrase “Jehovah Mekoddishkem” is also used to refer to God as the one who is faithful and true. He is the one who keeps His promises and is always there for His people. He is the one who provides them with strength and courage in times of difficulty and hardship. He is the one who gives them hope and comfort in times of despair.

The phrase “Jehovah Mekoddishkem” is a reminder to us that God is the one who sanctifies us and sets us apart for His service. He is the one who gives us the
