Substance Use Disorders

Substance use disorders are a major issue in mental health today. They can have a devastating impact on individuals, families, and communities. In this blog post, we will explore substance use disorders from a Christian perspective, looking at how the Bible speaks to this issue and how we can best support those affected by it.

The Bible speaks to the issue of substance use disorders in several ways. In Proverbs 20:1, it says, “Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.” This verse speaks to the dangers of alcohol and other substances, and the potential for addiction and destruction that can come with them. In 1 Corinthians 6:12, it says, “All things are lawful unto me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawful for me, but I will not be brought under the power of any.” This verse speaks to the idea that while we are free to make our own choices, we should not be enslaved by them.

Importance Of Community And Support In Dealing With Substance Use Disorders

The Bible also speaks to the importance of community and support in dealing with substance use disorders. In Galatians 6:2, it says, "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ." This verse speaks to the importance of being there for one another in times of need, and of supporting those who are struggling with substance use disorders.
