The Philippine Revival of the 1960s and 1970s was a period of spiritual renewal and growth in the Philippines. It was a time of great spiritual awakening and renewal, with many people turning to God and experiencing a deep spiritual transformation. The revival was marked by a renewed commitment to the Christian faith, a renewed focus on evangelism, and a renewed passion for the Word of God.

The revival began in the early 1960s, when a group of Filipino Christians began to meet in small groups to pray and study the Bible. These meetings soon spread throughout the country, and soon the revival was in full swing. People from all walks of life were coming to the meetings, and the revival was having a profound effect on the spiritual life of the nation.

The revival was marked by a renewed commitment to the Christian faith. People were turning to God in droves, and the churches were filled with people seeking spiritual renewal. The revival was also marked by a renewed focus on evangelism, with many churches sending out teams of evangelists to spread the gospel.

The revival was also marked by a renewed passion for the Word of God. People were reading the Bible more than ever before, and the churches were filled with people studying the Scriptures. The revival was also marked by a renewed commitment to prayer, with many churches holding prayer meetings and prayer vigils.

The revival was also marked by a renewed commitment to social justice. People were becoming more aware of the injustices in society, and the churches were becoming more involved in social action. The revival was also marked by a renewed commitment to the poor, with many churches setting up soup kitchens and providing food and clothing to those in need.

The revival was also marked by a renewed commitment to the arts. People were becoming more creative in their worship, and the churches were filled with music, art, and drama. The revival was also marked by a renewed commitment to education, with many churches setting up schools and providing educational opportunities to those in need.

The revival was a time of great spiritual renewal and growth in the Philippines. It was a time of great spiritual awakening and renewal, with many people turning to God and experiencing a deep spiritual transformation. The revival was marked by a renewed commitment to the Christian faith, a renewed focus on evangelism, and a renewed passion for the Word of God.

The revival was a time of great blessing for the Philippines. It was a time of spiritual renewal and growth, and it was a time of great hope for the future. The revival was a time when the people of the Philippines were able to experience the power of God in their lives, and it was a time when the nation was able to experience a new level of spiritual renewal and growth.

••••• For I will pour water on the thirsty land, and streams on the dry ground; I will pour my Spirit upon your offspring, and my blessing on your descendants. • –
Isaiah 44:3

Salvation Prayers : Dear Lord Jesus, I come to you today acknowledging my need for salvation. I confess that I have sinned and fallen short of your glory. But I believe that you died for my sins and rose again. I ask that you come into my heart and be my Lord. I commit to following you and living for you every day. Thank you for your love and for the gift of eternal life. In your name I pray, Amen. Amen
