The events leading up to Easter are some of the most important in the Christian faith. From Jesus's triumphal entry into Jerusalem to his arrest and trial, these events are essential to understanding the significance of Easter. In this blog post, we will discuss the events leading up to Easter, including the triumphal entry and Jesus's arrest and trial.

The Triumphal Entry

The triumphal entry of Jesus into Jerusalem is one of the most significant events leading up to Easter. According to the Gospel of Matthew, Jesus entered Jerusalem on a donkey, fulfilling the prophecy of Zechariah 9:9: "Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion! Shout aloud, O daughter of Jerusalem! Behold, your king is coming to you; righteous and having salvation is he, humble and mounted on a donkey, on a colt, the foal of a donkey."

The people of Jerusalem welcomed Jesus with shouts of "Hosanna!" and spread their cloaks and palm branches on the ground before him. This event is commemorated each year on Palm Sunday, the Sunday before Easter.

Jesus' Arrest and Trial

After the triumphal entry, Jesus spent the week teaching in the temple and debating with the religious leaders. On Thursday night, Jesus was betrayed by Judas Iscariot and arrested in the Garden of Gethsemane. He was then taken to the high priest Caiaphas, who questioned him and then sent him to the Roman governor Pontius Pilate.

Pilate questioned Jesus and found no fault in him, but the religious leaders continued to press for his execution. Pilate then handed Jesus over to be crucified. According to the Gospel of Luke, Pilate declared, "I am innocent of this man's blood; see to it yourselves."
