When it comes to preaching the salvation message from Christianity, it is important to consider who should receive it. From the Bible, we can gather that God is calling all people to salvation, and it is our duty as Christians to spread the message of the gospel to all people.

According to 1 Timothy 2:4, “God our Savior “wants all people to be saved and to come to a knowledge of the truth.”

Whom to Preach Salvation Message To

- A. All People
- B. Unbelievers
- C. Believers

When it comes to whom to preach the salvation message to, the Bible is clear that the message of salvation should be spread to all people. All people, regardless of their belief or unbelief, should be given the opportunity to hear and believe in the gospel of Jesus Christ. As Christians, we have an obligation to spread the good news of salvation to everyone, both believers and unbelievers.

We should not limit our efforts to only those who are already believers, as this would be contrary to the commandment of 1 Timothy 2:4. Instead, we should strive to share the message of salvation with everyone, including those who have never heard of it.

The message of salvation should be shared in a loving and compassionate manner. It is important to remember that when preaching the gospel, we are not trying to impose our beliefs on others. Instead, we are trying to share the message of God's love and grace with those who may not know it.

It is also important to remember that when preaching the gospel, we should not be judgmental or critical of those who do not share our beliefs. Instead, we should strive to share the message of God's love and grace in a way that is welcoming and inviting. We should be patient and understanding with those who may not be ready to accept the message of salvation.

We should also be mindful of the different cultures and backgrounds of those to whom we wish to preach the gospel. We should strive to use language and concepts that are familiar to them, as this will help them to understand the message of salvation more clearly.
